

What is Mental Health First Aid?

Mental Health First Aid is the initial help given to a person showing symptoms of mental illness or in a mental health crisis (severe depression, psychosis, panic attack, suicidal thoughts and behaviors, etc ...) until appropriate professional or other help, including peer and family support, can be engaged.

Youth Mental Health First Aid is designed to teach parents, family members, caregivers, teachers, school staff, peers, neighbors, health and human services workers, and other caring citizens how to help adolescent (ages 12-18) who is experiencing a mental health or addictions challenge or is in crisis. Youth Mental Health First Aid is primarily designed for adults who, regularly interact with young people.

Both these 8-hour courses prepare members of the public to provide Mental Health First Aid to those in need. This course is delivered by certified Mental Health First Aid USA instructors who completed a 5-day training and meet other certification requirements.

Why Mental Health First Aid?

- Mental health problems are common.
- Stigma is associated with mental health problems.
- Many people are not well informed about mental health problems.
- Professional help is not always on hand.
- People often do not know how to respond.
- People with mental health problems often do not seek help.

Mental Health First Aid teaches you:

-  Potential Warning Signs and risk factors for addictions and mental illness (depression, anxiety, trauma, substance use, and disorders in which psychosis may occur)
-  Impact of mental and substance use disorder and common mental health challenges for adults and youth, and typical adolescent development
-  5-step action plan (ALGEE) to assess a situation and provide help
-  Local community resources and where to turn for help
